Postgraduate Trauma Certificate Program

The online Postgraduate Trauma Certificate program, PGTC, provides an overview of trauma as participants study cutting edge knowledge about treating trauma, trauma theory, and neurophysiology. Participants learn to critically assess approaches to trauma and traumatic impact. The PGTC, is for anyone who holds a master's degree or higher in fields of human service or allied health and has an interest in increasing their knowledge about trauma.

The PGTC is an online, self-paced certificate program that includes three modules:

- Neurophysiology
- Trauma Theory
- Treatment of Trauma.

Each module is comprised of 15 Contact Hours pending ASWB approval for Social Workers. Modules may be purchased a la carte and the Certificate is earned by completing all three modules. Participants will have one calendar year to complete the Certificate. The cost for each module is $350 and is payable online at the time of registration.

Testimonials:

The Neuroscience Module has given me the tools to talk more in-depth about the importance of healthy relationships, genetics, epigenetics, and brain development. I especially believe that understanding Neuroscience is paramount for our field when evaluating and modifying current therapeutic practices, programs, and policies.

—Maribeth Gambill, LSSW, LCSW

I enjoyed the Trauma Theory Module. I think this in-depth look at both classical theories as well as newer concepts is important for any trauma clinician, both for use in practice but also for psychoeducational purposes.

—Waheeda Saif, LICSW

I appreciated the balance of scholarly journal articles coupled with practitioner-based best practices [in the Trauma Treatment Module]. This module definitely enhanced my knowledge of trauma. The knowledge gained will also positively impact how I train my practitioners and how I engage with clients.
